Presentation

The Spanish Association of Regional Science (AECR), together with the Catalan Association of Regional Science (ACCR), cordially invite you to participate in the 50th International Conference on Regional Science, which will take place from 21 to 23 October 2026 at the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya (UOC) in Barcelona.

This edition is especially meaningful, celebrating five decades of uninterrupted scientific exchange, debate, and community-building in the field of Regional Science. Barcelona, the city where the AECR was founded more than fifty years ago, offers a highly symbolic setting that connects the origins of our Association with the challenges of the present and the future.

As in previous editions, the Conference will serve as a multidisciplinary forum bringing together academics, professionals, and policy-oriented experts to discuss the main advances in regional and territorial analysis. The scientific program will include keynote lectures, panel discussions, special sessions, and paper presentations, and remains the main annual meeting in Spain devoted to the study and debate of regional and territorial issues, with a strong international projection.

The slogan chosen for this landmark edition is: “AI-Driven Territories for a Sustainable Future: 50 Years Building Knowledge for Regional Development.”

In line with this theme, the Conference will focus on two closely interconnected topics of major relevance: sustainability, understood from a broad and multidisciplinary perspective, and artificial intelligence and digital transformation. The discussions will address how digitalisation and AI are reshaping territories, economies, and societies, as well as the role that regions, cities, and rural areas play in advancing more sustainable, inclusive, and resilient development paths.

We warmly encourage you to take part in this special 50th anniversary edition, which offers a unique opportunity to exchange ideas, strengthen professional networks, and collectively reflect on both the achievements and future directions of Regional Science.

We look forward to welcoming you to Barcelona.

La Riqueza de las Regiones

Por la Asociación Española de Ciencia Regional

Estimad@s participantes del congreso de Barcelona:
La Asociación Española de Ciencia Regional (AECR) tiene un Blog denominado La Riqueza de las Regiones.
Pretendemos que este blog sea un servicio apreciado por los socios y los participantes de los congresos de la AECR y que constituya un instrumento de comunicación con la sociedad y de canalización de los trabajos realizados por los asociados y los participantes de los congresos de la AECR, así comolos que publican en nuestra revista: Investigaciones Regionales-Journal of Regional Research.
Como sabéis la ANECA, además de la publicación de los trabajos de investigación, valora, cada vez más, la transferencia, la divulgación y la repercusión mediática de los mismos. En este sentido, el Blog os ofrece esta plataforma de comunicación que os puede beneficiar y ayudar a mejorar vuestras puntuaciones.
Tod@s estáis invitad@s a remitir vuestras contribuciones, sugerencias y comentarios a la dirección de correo electrónico info@aecr.org. Las entradas irán firmadas por los autores y la responsabilidad de los contenidos es únicamente de los firmantes de las mismas. Es conveniente que tengan un carácter divulgativo e incorporen unas palabras claves que permitan su identificación en los sistemas de búsqueda de internet y alguna imagen o cuadro que las haga más atractivas.

En concreto, disponemos de seis tipos de entradas:

- La reflexión de (...) Aprox. 250-750 palabras.
- Reflexión exprés de (...) Aprox. 100-250 palabras.
- Imagen/Gráfico/Mapa de la semana. 100-250 palabras más la imagen.
- Investigaciones regionales Artículos breves que resuman las conclusiones más importantes de investigaciones en ciencia regional. 250-750 palabras.
- Reseñas Aprox: 250-750 palabras.
- Noticias Aprox: 100-500 palabras.

Building on 50 Years of Regional Science: The LI International Conference on Regional Science – RER 2027

Following the upcoming celebration of the 50th Reunión de Estudios Regionales (RER) in Barcelona, we are delighted to continue this long-standing tradition by announcing the next edition, which will take place at the Universidad de Zaragoza from October 20 to 22, 2027.

The theme of the 51st Reunión de Estudios Regionales, "Shaping Better Regions: Data, Evidence and Territorial Policy", naturally follows the trajectory of previous editions of the congress, which have consistently reflected on how knowledge can contribute to understanding territorial change and improving regional well-being.

Today, regional science is entering a new phase, characterised by the unprecedented availability of new data sources and analytical tools. These advances provide new opportunities to test theories, uncover emerging territorial dynamics, evaluate policies, and generate stronger evidence for decision-making. However, data alone cannot explain the complexity of territories: meaningful progress requires the combination of theoretical frameworks, rigorous methodologies, and policy-oriented research.

From this perspective, the congress will explore how the interaction between data, evidence, and territorial policy can contribute to shaping better regions. It will provide a forum to discuss how regional science can address current challenges such as spatial inequalities, demographic change, climate transition, innovation, urban transformation, and territorial cohesion.

Zaragoza offers a unique setting for this reflection. Located at the centre of the Ebro Valley, the city embodies the connections between urban and regional development, economic transformation, and territorial diversity. As a medium-sized city with a strategic role in national economic and logistical networks, Zaragoza provides an excellent environment to discuss how knowledge, evidence, and innovation can support more inclusive, sustainable, and resilient territories.

We look forward to building on five decades of regional science dialogue and welcoming the community to Zaragoza for a new opportunity to exchange ideas, strengthen collaborations, and advance the future of regional science.
